

Account Manager Corporate Banking
Vancouver, B.C.

Our client is a subsidiary of a major global bank serving large corporations throughout Western Canada.

Five years of active corporate banking or large transaction commercial banking experience is required.

As the Account Manager, you will assist in the development and monitoring of corporate clients and prospective customers through duties in financial analysis, credit application preparation, negotiation, portfolio administration functions (customer compliance, periodic credit reviews, etc.), loan documentation and will assist in the business development program of the bank.

You will research and monitor potential business opportunities for the bank and support the senior executive and global product teams in their customer calling programs, with an ultimate goal of taking on a role as a business development officer.

As the ideal candidate, you will bring your university degree in a field relevant to corporate banking (business, economics, commerce, etc.). An MBA or CFA will add value. You will have good knowledge of basic Canadian accounting principles, as well as some prior instruction in financial analysis and business strategy. Finely-honed communication skills (written and oral) are a must, as is advanced-level working knowledge of Excel and Word.
